SUNDAY, August 23, 1868. There was an unsettled market for gold during e of last week, and the fluctuations were from 143% to 147%, while the closing quotation at eve o'clock on Saturday was 144% a 144%. The volme of speculative business was large, and the bear nent being in the ascendant the "short" interest was largely increased, and this will doubtless be on turned to account by the bulls in a fresh upward movement. The lull which has latterly been enced in political affairs cannot be expected experienced in political affairs cannot be expected to last in view of the stormy Presidential cammigh which is close upon us, and the emper of prominent politicians of both emper of prominent politicians question sarties in relation to the financial question. by no means calculated to allay distrust. The h of Senator Sherman at a republican meeting at Hillsboro, Ohio, is the reverse of reassuring to the adholders when he says:-"My mind always nes back to this conclusion, that under the law the contract between the creditor and the United States was that the creditor should loan the United nited States would pay the interest at six per cent n coin, and that the United States might at the end the five years return to the creditor his principal m in the same money loaned to the government r might postpone this for twenty years. But upon this question there is a diversity of opinion not confined to parties, and the whole of it grows out of the condition of our currency." The bears argue that as about five millions f coin interest on the public debt falls due in Sepmber this will have a tendency to depress the emium: but as the scanty reserve in the Treasury IH be reduced by that amount the disbursement, if it exerts any appreciable effect, ought to be in favor of an advance; but there is no reason why it hould be invested with any importance by either bulls or bears. The price of gold will doubtless rise considerably higher before the end of the Presiential canvass under political causes alone, and therefore it is only a question of time as to how much longer the bears can keep it down to its preent point. The Sub-Freasury disbursed $208,000 in coin during the week in payment of interest on the public debt and received $2,940,388 for Customs duties, while the shipments of specie from the port fell short of $650,000. The daily range of the market Highest.

out, owing in part to the further weakness developed in Erie, which at one time sold down to 41. On turday, however, it rallied sharply to 50% under the contradiction of the report previously circulated that the company had bought the lines of steamers running from this port towards Beston and the conequent fright of the bears, who rushed in to 'cover" their contracts. A relapse to 47% quickly llowed, and at the close it was drooping at 48 a 48 %. It is apparently the design of those who have thus far been parties to the bear movement in the stock to carry it much lower, and hence intending buyers will do well to leave it severely alone. The entire railway st sympathizes to a certain extent with Erie, and there are more sellers than buyers in the street. At the close the market was dull and heavy in tone and the following quotations were current: New York Central, 123% a 123%; Erie, 48% a 48%; Reading, 89% a 89%; Michigan Southern, 82% a 83; Cleveland and Pittsburg, 85% a 85%; Rock Island, 98 a 98%; Northwestern, 80% a 80%; Northwestern preferred, 80% a 80%; Fort Wayne, 106 a 106%.

Government securities were depressed artificially in the early part of the week, but they subsequently became firmer, and prices showed an improving tendency, although the out of town orders to buy continued on a restricted scale. The exaggerated fears of an active money market, which prevail to some extent, have held speculation for a rise in pheck since the recent fall; but in view of the supply money being abundant at 3 a 4 per cent on United States stocks, there is practically nothing in the monetary situation to operate against an upward movement as yet, and our national securities are cheaper than any others at the current quotations.
On Saturday there was considerable inquiry for the eve-twenties of 1864 for shipment and at the close nt of accrued interest as the bonds of 1865 and are relatively lower than any of the other six per cent stocks. The market closed firm. Money was in just as abundant supply during the week as at any time during the summer, the general rate for loans on mixed collaterals being four per ent, while the leading dealers in governments were enabled to borrow at three and three and a half per ent. At the same time commercial paper of good quality, which is not in large supply, was quoted at 6 a 7 per cent The drain of currency Westward to than usual at this time in August, and this is rected in the statement of the associated banks of his city for the week ending on Saturday. The $3,177,836 in legal tender notes, $3,185,169 in specie and $2.562.837 in loans, while in the circulation there is an increase of $23,540. The totals of the last

The foreign exchange market was quiet but steady uring the week on the basts of 109% for prime ankers' sterling at sixty days. The supply of bills drawn against shipments of five-twenties has been fargely reduced, owing to its gradual absorption and the cessation of such shipments since the bills on England at sixty days were quoted at 10014 10014; at three days, 10014 a 10014; commercial bills, 108% a 109: bankers' bills on Paris at sixty days,

The total receipts for the last seven days have reached 9.5 bales (against 1,038 bales last week, 666 bales the invivious week and 1,457 bales three weeks since), making the aggregate receipts since September 1, 1857, up to this date, including the returns by felegraph o-night, 2,139,613 bales, against 1,871,896 bales for the same period in 1868-7, being an excess this season over last season of 318,017 bales. The exports for the week ending to-night reach a total of 744 bales, all of which were sent to Great Britain, white the stocks at all the ports as made up this evening are reduced to 49,786 bales. It will be seen that, compared with the corresponding week of last season, there is a decrease in the exports this week of 1,306 bales; so that the former increase in the total shipments since September 1, 1867, as compared with the same period of the previous year, a now reduced to about 100,000 bales, while the stocks to-night are 31,000 bales less than they were at this

grain in the West:—

The fall movement in grain has now fairly commenced. The farmers, releved to a large extent from the exhaustive toils of the harvest field, have been sending in their treasures for several days past as coplously as the carrying facilities of the railroads would allow, and have thus released the Chicago markets to a great extent from the control of the speculators. The natural counterpart of this movement is the shipping of the grain eastward in larger quantities than heretofore. The number of vessels chartered for this purpose yesterday was seventeen, more than double the daily average of the summer thus far.

BURNING OF A DWELLING AT 110TH STREET AND

BROADWAY-NARROW ESCAPE OF THE OCCUPANTS .-At about three o'clock on Sunday morning a fire broke out in the dwelling house of Mr. Charles W. Whiley, situated at about 110th street, west of Broadway. The whole of the house and its contents were destroyed; the stable and barn, being at a distance of about two hundred feet, escaped the fire. It seems that Mr. Whiley had resided there for over a year. On the night of the fire Mrs. Whiley and son were stopping at the New York Hotel. Mr. Whiley was swoke by the smoke, and on going to the half discovered the stairs on fire. The only course left was to escape from the second story window. The colored servant woman sleeping in the attic bedroom was nurried down to the second story, and Mr. Whiley lowered her from the window in safety, then got out himself, and in so doing injured his ankie. The firemen and police were at the premises, but not in time to save any of the property. Mr. Whiley's loss will be from $8,000 to $10,000, on which there is an insurance of about $5,000 in the Firemen's Fund and one or two other companies. The building was owned by C. H. Whitlock; it was valued at about $10,000, said to be insured. The origin of the fire is at present a mystery. destroyed; the Stable and barn, being at a distance

THE HOWARD MISSION AND HOME.

Return of the Rev. W. C. Van Meter-Narra tive on His Experience Abroad.

The Rev. W. C. Van Meter, whose name is so familia in connection with one of New York's proudest of charities-the Howard Mission and Home for Little Wanderers-delivered a discourse at the mission, New Bowery, yesterday afternoon on the subject of his experience abroad, particularly with reference to the hospitals, prisons and reformatories of European continental cities. After the singing of the hymn "Welcome Home" and the usual introductory exercises, Mr. Van Meter addressed the large congregation of the children and their friends. Having alluded to his experience in Naples he said he next went to Rome, which he had visited not so much to see the trial trip down the bay on Saturday, having on board a select party of ladies and gentleasen. The Mahoning is 147 feet in length, 29 in breadth, 12 in depth and measures 256 tons. The engine is a double 36 inch oscillator, of 356 horse power. A very large concourse of people assembled yes erday at 94 Rivington street to do honor to the remains of the late Major Bailey. A guard of honor consisting of a detachment of the First cavalry and a detachment of the Second cavalry, National Guard, dismounted, under the command of Major Madden with the officers of the First and Second cavalry and a company of the First arthery, National Guard, were drawn up in front of the house. The officers of the Second regiment were also in attendance. On the right of the hose the band of the First cavalry were in reactness, and when the coffin, borne by officers of the regiments represented, appeared at the door the dead march was played and the military presented arms. The coffin having been deposited in the hearne, the officers who were previously detailed to excert it formed themselves, with drawn swords, on either side, and the procession, headed by the cavalry band, the detachments of cavalry and artillery and the officers of the Second infantry, moved into the Bowery and marched down through Chandam street and Broadway to Cortlandt street ferry. The hearse, the chief mourners and a large number of the relatives and friends of the decembed were conveyed across to Jersey City and driven to the New York Bay Cemetery, where the mortal remains of Major Bailey were laid to rest. with the officers of the First and Second cavalry and

ASTRONOMICAL.

[From the Boston Transcript.]

August has been a month of unusual interest to watchers of the skies. Three great astronomical events have occurred.in a single week. First came the annual meteoric shower on the night of St. Lawrence day (August 10), a meteorological event, by a singular coincidence, of ecclesiastical as well as of scientific interest. Through a long period of time it was known that on the night of the annual festival of this celebrated saint numerous meteors feil from the heavens. They came to be designated "fiery tears," in allusion to the death of the saint, who singered martyriom by being burned to death on a griditon over a slow fire. These "fiery tears" have never failed to rain down on St. Lawrence day. This year the usual number was noted. An Italian astronomer has discovered that the paths of the St. Lawrence meteors coincide with the path of the great comet (Tuttle) of 1862. It has also been ascertained that the paths of the November meteors coincide with the path of the comet (Tempel) of 1866. This indicates some connection between comets and meteors, and some very curious speculations have already been started respecting them. Four days after the meteoric shower Professor Hall, of the Washington Observatory, discovered Encke's comet, which was announced to appear some time this month. It was found in the place calculation had assigned it on that date. It will be nearest the carth on the 27th instant. In America Walker, of Philadelphia, and Bond and Tuttle, of Cambridge, have on previous occasions observed the return of this comet in verification of prediction, on Tuesday last occurred a most remarkable total eclipse of the sun, visible in Brittsh India and in the Gulf of Siam. In these places total darkness prevailed for above six minutes and a half. The account of this extraordinary

NEW JERSEY.

Jersey City.
PURTHER THEFTS AT THE LONG DOCK .- A man named John Madden, thirty-three years of age, was locked up yesterday for assault and battery on Martin Callaghan, a watchman at the Eric Ratiroad depot. It is alleged that Madden and several of his acquaintances were in the habit of entering the depot and drinking their fill from the milk cans. In an attempt to prevent this Callaghan was worsted and severely handled by his neighbor Madden.

West Hoboken. SUDDEN DEATH.—Alfred Chappins, a young French man, about twenty years of age, died very suddenly yesterday at his residence, in De Mott street, near Palisade avenue. After partaking of his dinner the deceased cast himself on a sofa to reat and expired immediately. A post mortem examination will be made and Coroner White will hold an inquest this afternoon.

BROOKLYN INTELLIGENCE.

LARCENY OF FURNITURE.-Mary Nolan was ar rested by officer Layton, of the Forty-third precinct, on Saturday night, on the complaint of Thomas Carl, of No. 67 West Baltic street. He makes affidavit that the accused stole $120 worth of furniture from him. She was locked up to await trial.

PRIONIOUS ASSAULT .- Patrick Feeny, a laborer, was arrested on Saturday night on a charge of having committed a felonious assault on William Connelly, of No. 56 Willow street. The accused, as alleged, struck the complainant on the head with an iron bar, causing a severe, if not dangerous wound. He was locked up to await examination.

ARREST OF YOUNG THIEVES.—William H, Farrelt

Michael McNamara, whom the police denominate as noted young thieves, were arrested on Saturday night on a carge of having robbed, on the 18th July, the jewerly store at 70 Court street. The accused were all locked up to await trial. ATTEMPTED LARCENY OF A DIAMOND PIN .- JOSEPH Core was arrested by Sergeant Rogers on Saturday night on a charge of attempting to steal a diamond pin from Mr. George L. Ayers while on the steamer Chicopee at Coney Island. The accused, as adleged, attempted to take the pin from the complainant's boson, when he was detected. He was locked up to ASSAULT WITH A DIRK KNIPE.-A young man, named William Helmer, was yesterday arrested by officer Colgan, of the Forty-sixth precinct, and locked up to answer a charge of feloniously assaulting one Andrew Greimer, by stabbling birn in the face with a dirk knite. The ofence was committed in the rar yard of the tenement house No. 120 Ewen street, E. D. The prisoner claims that his mother was grossly insulted by Greimer. The wound inflicted is not of a dangerous nature.

STABBLING APPERAYS.—Denis Hinckley and Patrick STABBING APPRAYS .- Denis Hinckley and Patrick

Ryan got into an altercation at the corner of Hicks and Amity streets on Saturday night, when the former drew a knife and made an attack on the latformer drew a knife and made an attack on the lat-ter, indicting three dangerous cuts on the neck and face. The wounded man was taken to the hos-pital and Hinckley was arrested and is held to await the result of the injuries indicted. A stabbing affray occurred between four men named Charles Regan, Frederick Riser, Patrick Mann and Miles Lacey, on Saturday night, at No. 39 Dean street. Mann was cut on the hands and arms, and Lacey was stabbed in the face. The injured men were taken to the hospital, and Regan and Riser locked up to answer.

THE ALLEGED HOMICIDE, -Coroner Smith has impanelled a jury and will hold an inquest to-day (Monday) over the body of James Nicholson. The deceased, it will be remembered, was assaulted on deceased, it will be remembered, was assaulted on Friday night by a woman named Mary Ann Jourdan as he was about passing into his house at 113 Navy street, and as he died at an early hour on Saturday morning the supposition was that his death resulted from the injuries then received. Mrs. Jouran, asari leged, struck the deceased across the breast with an iron bar, but the blow was not sufficient to knock him down or deprive him of his senses, for he immediately picked up a stone, and would have struck her with it, had she not disappeared. Dr. A. W. Shepard made the post mortem examination, but did not discover any marks of violence on the body. The internal organs were much diseased, however, and the probabilitiserde that he died from natural causes. The woman Jourdan is still locked up in the Forty-fourth precinct station house, awaiting the result of the Coroner's investigation.

PROBABLE HOMICIDE IN WILLIAMSBURG.

Coroner Smith was yesterday notified that a man named Frank Dennoff was lying in a dangerons con-dition at his residence, corner of Flushing avenue and Morrell streets, Williamsburg, from the effects of a wound received the previous evening. It appears that a number of inborers employed at Liehmann's brewery were engaged in making an excavation in Washington street, and on saturday evening they drank rather freely of lager beer and two of them became involved in a light. The elder of the two combatants excited the sympathy of Frank benhoff and he attempted to take him away, when one Philip Hartling struck him on the back of the head with a shovel, indicting a wound which will probably prove fatal. Hartling was yesterday arrested by officer Nalton, of the Forty-sixth precinct, and committed to the county jail by Coroner Smith. The following is the tatement of the injured man:

My name is Frank Denhoff; am a car driver by occupation; I saw the two men who worked at the brewery engaged in a fight; one of them was on the ground and the other beating him; the man who was down was an old man; I went to the a sistance of the old man and pushed Philip Hartling aside, and was raising the other man from the ground when Hartling cause behind me, struck me in the head with a shovel and felled me to the ground; when I arose to my feet I pears that a number of laborers employed at Lieh belind me, struck me in the near who a shover and relied me to the ground; when I arose to my feet I asked him what he had struck me for, when, instead of receiving any reply, I was struck upon the side with a stone which he had picked up; I was taken to a physician, who refused to dress my wounds; I was then carried home and received surgical aid; I do not know the name of the old man engaged in the fight; I did not strike itarting; never had any difficulty with him before; always considered him my friend; do not think he was drunk at the time; I was perfectly sober.

The prisoner was here produced and recognized by Denhoff as the man who had injured him.

VERDICT OF THE JURY.

The jury rendered the following verdict:—"We find that Frank benhoff came to his wounds by being struck on the head with a shovel, the said shovel being in the hands of one Phillip Hartling, on the evening of the 22d of August, 1868."

PROSPECT PARK, BROOKLYN.

Thousands of people visited Prospect Park yester-day, some for the purpose of viewing the fine scenery, lolling beneath the shade of the trees and breathing a purer atmosphere for a few hours, at least, and others to see what progress had been least, and others to see what progress had been made by the workmen towards adorning and beautifying the Park during the past few weeks. The work, however, progresses so slowly that it is scarcely perceptible, and a fair impression of what the broad acres will look like in a few years hence cannot be formed at present. All that portion which has been open to the public for some months past was thronged with visitors, the larger portion of whom, being confined in workshops, factories or at some laborious work through the week, appreciate a ramble through the woods and over the hills for a few hours on Sunday. The day was more than usually inviting, and as the Park affords so many attractions superior to Coney Island and several other resorts it is not surprising that it was so well patronized yesterday. Men of opulence rolled over the smooth avenues in costly equipages, while the poorer classes stroiled about and enjoyed themselves among the walks. Prospect Park is destined to be one of the most pleasant places of resort on the Island.

Yesterday was an unusually decorous and delightini Sabbath at Coney Island. The weather was of the happiest kind in a bathing point of view, and owing to the absence of the rowdies and ruffians of New York, who seem to consider this vagrant off-New York, who seem to consider this vagrant offshoot of Long Island their own special fee simple property, was far happier still. A gang of six or seven theves came down in the afternoon, but the sharp optics of the policemen on the dock penetrated their awkward disquises at a glance. They writed in consequence, and went their way in fear and trembling. Impector Folk, of the Brooklyn pothee, had a force of forty distributed among the principal points on the Island, and this wholesome precaution had no doubt the effect of searting away the bullies and brussers, whose only enjoyment appears to consist in destroying other peoples? This class had it all their own way until five or six weeks ago, when the police force was increased and rowdyism granually extirpated. There was a very large number of people at Coney Island yesterday, especially for this advanced period of the season.
Not the slightest disturbance occurred, nor even did a report appear that a solitary pocket had been picked.

A rumor was given circulation to on Saturday that the bailed bruisers, of the previous Sunday intended to return in overpowering might yesterday, armed to the teeth and determined to try conclusions with the police.
The latter were fully prepared to meet them, were amply provided with the comforts of self-defence, and would have given a very good account of themselves had the anticipated collision occurred. On the four o'clock boat, which was extremely crowded Inspector Folk sent up ten men to New York, and on the seven o'clock boat, which was the last, the rest of the force took their departure. The lasts was filled to overflowing, but the utmost good feeling and harmony prevailed. It is a good suggestion that a station be erected on the island for the accommodation of a few policemen during the summer months. A good many persons sometimes remain after the departure of the last boat, scissaed to take they care as any time to middle the police shoot of Long Island their own special fee simple are all gone and the thieves have a change to openie.
